Economic Development

A UNIVERSITY MADE FOR DURHAM REGION AND NORTHUMBERLAND COUNTY

Governments need universities. That's because universities enhance competition in the global marketplace, and help local businesses innovate and stay productive.

Our university was made for Durham Region and Northumberland County. We create high-paying jobs and serve as a hub of innovation. We diversify this region's employment and help it thrive during economic changes.

Our impact extends beyond Durham and Northumberland—from every dollar of base funding, we generate $3.60 of spending impacts across Ontario.

Manufacturing industries have traditionally been this area's source of high-paying jobs. That's changing. Our university's students, faculty and more than 80 specialized research laboratories and facilities play a big part in adjusting to that change.

We foster innovation, graduate smart, sophisticated students, and make leading-edge research infrastructure available to local entrepreneurs.

Yet, every university's ability to make an economic impact depends on how it can grow and develop.

The university has a plan to help it grow in tandem with Durham Region. Together we will continue to foster entrepreneurship and make this region even more attractive to business.
