at its meeting of June 19th, 2018

FOR INFORMATION

a. Minor Program Adjustment

CPRC approved the addition of a new course, CRMN 4001 Special Topics in Criminology and Justice, as an alternative option for 4th year required courses in the Criminology and Justice program maps. The change allows 4th year students another course option to satisfy the advanced writing requirement. The proposed course requires students to satisfy the advanced writing requirements through the submission of a final paper, while they explore a particular topic in criminology.

b. Minor Program Adjustment

CPRC approved a minor change to the number of electives required in the Advanced Entry - Legal Studies program. This reflects changes made previously to the 4-year Legal Studies program and ensures students are following consistent requirements.
