

WHAT WE DO

Researchers at the CHBE take part in numerous activities to intervene in patterns of hate.

Some of our activities include:

- Research and proposal writing
- Workshops and training
- Policy consultation
- Community program development

OUR MISSION

The focus of the Centre on Hate, Bias and Extremism is to explore the ways in which hate, bias and extremism challenge values of inclusion and equity, along lines of race, ethnicity, religion, gender, sexual orientation, disability and other relevant status characteristics, both singly and interactively. It recognizes the historical continuities that underlie contemporary patterns of discrimination, exclusion and violence directed toward those who are othered.

The Centre aims to advance awareness, understanding and prevention of hate, bias and extremism by providing evidence-based research that will inform policies and practices to promote a just and equitable society for all.

OUR OBJECTIVES

To increase Canadian research capacity and encourage multi-sectoral scholarship in the areas of hate, bias and extremism.

Promote community engagement by sharing research results.

Support training of students, academics, practitioners and the public.

Develop evidence-based policy, practice and programming in the private and public sectors.

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

Our affiliated faculty members are committed to the principles of social justice, and to the communities in which we live. To that end, we have engaged extensively in community-based research, community service, and policy consultation.

We are always looking to add to the established number of key links with local, national and international NGOs, as well as municipal, provincial and federal policy-makers and practitioners to continue intervening in patterns of hate, bias and extremism.
